Para no. 3. : Translation:- Then the wolf, the crow and the jackal went out from the lion, and they went aside (ଅଲଗା) and consulted among themselves and they said, "we have nothing but this eater of grass which has nothing to do for him as well as us, and his opinion does not concur with (agrees) our opinions! Should we not do (ଅଧିକାର) (କର)

it (the camel) for the lion which he eats him and feed us with its flesh?" The jackal said, "This we cannot mention it to the lion, because he has accorded security to the camel, and he taken his responsibility as a compact (Promise)." The Crow said, "I shall satisfy you with the affair of the lion." Afterwards he went away and visited the lion.
 The lion said him, "— Have you obtained any thing?" The Crow said, "Certainly we gets whoever endeavours (tries) and sees, and as to us we have neither attempt nor look whatever we are in hunger, but we have unanimously taken a decision and we have agreed upon it, if the King agree with us then we can respond to him."
