

ଦେଖିଲା, " ହେଲେଣି ଏହି କଥା କେହି ମଧ୍ୟ କହିଲେ ହେବୁ ।" ସିନା ମଧ୍ୟ ସୁଦ୍ଧା କାହିଁକି କହିଲେ କହିଲେ, ସିନା କାହିଁକି କହିଲେ କହିଲେ କହିଲେ କହିଲେ କହିଲେ କହିଲେ କହିଲେ କହିଲେ । end.

Then the jackal said, "but I will be satiative for the king so let lion eat one and I am pleased with that and I consider myself to be good.
 Then the wolf and the crow protested it with their saying; Certainly you are all something and dirty." The wolf said, "I am not like that, so let the king eat one and I bestow myself to be good for it." Then the crow and the jackal refused (complained) lion and they (two) said, "the physicians say — "whoever want to kill lion he should eat the flesh of the wolf."

Then the Camel thought that whoever he would offer himself for eating they would beg excuse for lion just as

So one of them begged excuse for other, then would be saved and the lion would be pleased with him for that and he would get release from death. So he said, "But I am the person in whom there is satiation and great bitterness, and my flesh is very tasteful, and my stomach is clean, so let the king eat me and feed his companions and servants and I am pleased with that and my soul is satiated and I bestow it. The wolf and the crow and the jackal said, "The camel has spoken the truth and he has become bountiful, and they said what they knew!
 Afterwards they jumped upon him and tore off his end.
